Bollinger Insurance Relocates to Prestigious Short Hills Location

Bollinger, Inc. has relocated to 101 JFK Parkway, Short Hills. The firm occupies the top two floors of the state-of-the-art building, nearly doubling the space it occupied at 830 Morris Turnpike, Short Hills. According to Alex Crispo, senior vice president and general counsel, "The rapid growth of our business requires us to relocate our operations and find a larger facility that will accommodate our increasingly sophisticated needs. The building at 101 JFK Parkway meets all of our requirements."

In addition to its corporate headquarters in Short Hills, Bollinger has offices in Princeton NJ, Mt. Laurel NJ and New York NY. Bollinger is the 11th largest privately owned insurance broker in the country. Over the years, the firm has transformed itself from a regional insurance operation known for its specialty products, to a national broker offering a wide variety of insurance products and services to a diverse customer base.
